

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Golden Valley, MN— FEBRUARY 15, 2017—Stat-Technologies, a leader in point of care medical supply distribution, today announced that it has closed on its merger with Health Management Systems Corp, of Plano, Texas, an industry leader in online medical distribution. Stat-Technologies is widely known for expertise in the hospital and health promotion marketplace. The merged companies will continue operations as STAT-TECHNOLOGIES, INC.

"The HMSC team is world class, and is passionate about the same things we are—consulting with customers to make the best point of care medical test purchases possible. Like Stat-Technologies, HMSC selected the highest quality products to distribute to their customers. "By combining our operations we significantly expand our resources and access for customers." stated Perry Witkin, President of Stat-Technologies.

"The healthcare industry is advancing faster than ever before, so constant improvements and access to economies of scale was a priority for us. Having the ability to better serve all of our customers was a driving factor for our Merger with Stat Technologies, said Brian Bullock, CEO of HMSC".

More details about the acquisition will be provided on the Stat-Technologies website in coming weeks at www.stat-technologies.com.
